

The Future of Innovation & Investment in Broadband

When: Thursday, August 12, 11:30a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

Where: The Petroleum Club
100 N. Broadway, Suite 900
Wichita, KS 67202

Keynote Speaker:

Bruce Mehlman, Co-Chairman, Internet Innovation Alliance and former Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Technology Policy in the George W. Bush administration.

With the release of the National Broadband Plan earlier this year, the Federal Communications Commission noted that it could cost nearly $350 Billion to connect all of America to high-speed broadband networks. This investment is crucial for growing local economies and jobs, educating children, promoting best practices in agriculture, receiving state-of-the-art health care, and providing our communities with the most advanced technologies in public safety.
